

1,050 Lives Lost When Steamers Run Together

Montreal, May 29.—After revising the passenger list the Canadian Pacific states officially that 1,367 persons were on the Empress of Ireland. With only 337 rescued, 12 of whom died later, the death list is fixed at 1,052. This is the worst disaster in the history of the Canadian waters.

Montreal, Canada, May 29.—At 10:45 this morning the Canadian Pacific officials admit at least 850 persons lost their lives when the liner Empress of Ireland was rammed and sunk by the collier Stordstad at 1:45 o'clock this morning 20 miles from Father's Point in the St. Lawrence River. The Empress sank in about ten minutes.

In response to wireless calls the government steamer Eureka and steamer Lady Evelyn left Quebec for the scene. About four hundred, mostly women and children, were rescued with life boats.

The Empress listed so badly all her life boats could not be launched. Captain Kendall was saved by clinging to the wreckage. Among the passengers were several Americans.

The Empress of Ireland was one of the finest vessels in the Canadian Pacific service. She left Montreal at four-thirty yesterday afternoon carrying about twelve hundred passengers and crew.

Among the passengers were 165 members of the Salvation Army from the United States and Canada bound for the World Convention at London. As the vessel left the dock they were singing "God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again," to accompaniment of a band.

The rescued were landed at Rimouski. The vessels collided during a thick fog. Owing to difficulty of communication many conflicting reports are in circulation. One of these said the Empress was beached and all saved. At noon still considerable uncertainty. But from all available information it is believed the lost will number six to eleven hundred.

Survivors Landed.
Rimouski, May 29.—Of the 350 survivors landed this morning, 12 have died from injuries and exposure.

Another Member Believed Lost.
Charleston, S. C., May 29.—The tug dispatched to search for the steamer F. J. Luckenbach, running from Tampa to New York, believed lost with nine aboard. She is a week overdue at destination.

Murray Mathews of Florida is in the city for a few days.

No Need for Wrangling.
All the returns from the election in the recent primaries are in, and it seems that there are to be no contests. The Dale figures have been sent up, and, as they did not change the result, there is nothing to be gained by wrangling over them.—Montgomery Times.

ALABAMA PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETS IN BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, Ala., May 29.—The Alabama Press Association convened at 11 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce. Was called to order by President Nunnlee. The morning session was devoted to addresses on various topics, after which the session adjourned until 2 p. m., when measures will be taken to protect the press against unscrupulous advertisers and officers will be elected.

There will be lunch at the Newspaper Club and automobile ride this afternoon.

FOREIGN TRADE STATISTICS.

Foreign trade statistics for the month of March are such as will inspire even the most pessimistic to confidence in the bicycle and motorcycle trade. During that month there were shipped 358 motorcycles from United States ports to foreign parts, the valuation of the shipments aggregating $164,645. During the same month of last year there were but 523 machines shipped from our ports, the gain being 435 machines, or 82 per cent; the valuation of the shipments during March, 1913, was $39,926, the gain being $45,619 for March of 1914, which is just about 66 per cent. The fact that the percentage increase in the number of machines shipped out is so much greater than the value of the shipments, of course, is accounted for by the fact that the average value of the exported machines has been lowered. During March, 1913, the average value of the exported machine was $188, while during the third month of the present year it was but $171.

During the nine months ending with March of this year there were exported 3,737 motorcycles valued at $694,406, as against 2,366 valued at $433,616; the gains are 1,370 and $260,790 in number and value, respectively, or 58 and 60 per cent.

Bicycle exports amounted to $57,565 in value during March of this year, the number of machines not being listed in the advance sheets from the monthly summary of commerce and finance. This is $8,101, or 16 per cent more than for the same month of last year. During the nine-month period ending with March of 1913 there were exported bicycles to the value of $487,517 as against a value of $477,772 for a like period ending with March of the year, showing a slight decrease—$9,745 or 1.2 per cent.

But if taken all in all, the exports can be said to have soared, the imports cannot be construed as having done otherwise.

The total valuation of the bicycle motorcycles and parts imports—the machines are not separately listed—reached the high water mark of $35,465 during last March, while during March a year ago the

Wear Light Rags For Summer Heat

With the residents of Dothan and this section wearing their lightest clothing as a relief from the heat, the dry spell continues, despite the daily predictions of the amateur weather prophets who say that it will surely rain within the next twenty-four hours. These forecasts have been heard each day during the past few weeks, but so far they have not come true.

It is thought by some that the drought has probably injured young corn and cotton, but to what extent it cannot be ascertained. It may be that the various crops have been delayed for lack of rain, but it is not thought that much permanent damage has been done.

Up to Thursday, Dothan has not had a rain in three weeks, in fact, since the last hail, rain and wind storm which swept this section.

BOARD OF EDUCATION INSPECTS SCHOOL BUILDINGS

Every Room of the Three Buildings Were Gone Through and Found in Perfect Shape. Teachers were Given Automobile Ride to Ashford.

The Board of Education made an inspection of the school buildings of Dothan this morning. They assembled at the High School building, and were driven from there to the Rose Hill school, where the principal, Miss Esther Foster, with the teachers, formally received the board. They were in line at the entrance of the building, and Miss Foster presented to Mr. Cotton, president of the board, the keys to the building, and said:

"Mr. Cotton, in you as president of the school board, I surrender this bunch of keys; they unlock everything in the building except the hearts of the teachers, and these have never been closed."

The teachers conducted the members of the board through every room of the building and they were all found perfectly kept. The party then drove to the Grammar school building, where a similar inspection was made, and from there they went to the High School building, thus completing the inspection.

It was the idea of the board of education to see in what condition the various rooms of the school building were left at the close of this, a most successful school year, and the board was thoroughly satisfied with conditions.

After the inspections, the corps of teachers from the various buildings were given a ride in the country, going as far as Ashford, returning about twelve o'clock.

Some of the teachers left for home on the afternoon train, and the rest will leave tomorrow morning.

Mrs. J. M. Pippin and son James, Jr., of Ozark, were in the city today, and left this afternoon for Blakely, Ga., to visit her son, Shelby Pippin at that place.

figure stood at $19,552. The gain is $15,913, or just about 80 per cent. The increase in the valuation of the imports during a period of nine months ending with March amounted to about 35 per cent.

The figures show $141,592 as the value of the imports for the 1913 period, as against $192,355 for the 1914 period, an increase of $51,355.

HAWKEYE GLEE CLUB WITH CHAUTAUQUA

Although Dothan people have had some mighty good glee clubs, they have never had anything that will equal the Hawkeye Glee Club, which is to be a leading number of the coming Chautauqua. The Hawkeye Glee Club is composed of four male artists, rendering instrumental and vocal music, and humorous sketches. They have been with the Alabaster Chautauqua circuit for ten years and have always drawn return engagements wherever they have been.

MISS MARY MCCARTY PASSES AWAY

Miss Mary McCarty died this afternoon at one o'clock at the home of her brother, Rev. J. R. McCarty, on South St. Andrews Street.

Miss McCarty suffered a stroke of paralysis last December and although considerable improvement was noted in her condition she never fully recovered. Last Sunday she suffered another stroke which terminated in her death this afternoon. Funeral services will be held at the residence of Rev. J. R. McCarty, Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock and will be conducted by Rev. C. H. Pilley, pastor of the La Fayette Avenue Methodist church. Interment will be made in the city cemetery.

F. A. M. MEETS JULY 28-31

By a vote of a majority of the board of directors of the F. A. M. the four days, July 28-31, have been selected for the holding of the 1914 National Assembly of the Federation of American Motorcyclists. The date first was proposed by President Patterson, who, in a letter to the directors stated that these dates would not conflict with the dates already selected for the Atlantic Convention of the Cycle Parts and Accessories Association and the Cycle Jobbers Association of America, which is to begin on August 4, and continue until the night of the 7th.

A. H. Coffman, executive manager of the Motorcycle Manufacturers' Association, and candidate of the presidency of the F. A. M., has expressed a wish that the assembly of the F. A. M. should be held at an earlier date, so that a greater interval of time between the two conventions would permit the men connected with the trade to attend to the business of their factories after the F. A. M. assembly and before the trade convention.

Coffman points out that an absence of two weeks at this time will be avoided by many of the manufacturers and their representatives, with the result that the attendance of the F. A. M. will suffer.

Director Johnson has written to President Patterson and suggested that the F. A. M. dates be reconsidered, that July 15-18 be substituted for those which have been announced. The city which is to hold the F. A. M. assembly has not been announced.

APRIL 7-8-9 1915 IS DATE FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

MAIL CARRIERS HERE SATURDAY

Annual Convention of Letter Carriers Association Promised to Be Well Attended.

The Wiregrass Rural Letter Carriers Association, comprising six counties in this section of the State, will hold their annual convention in Dothan tomorrow.

Through the efforts of the local postoffice, permission has been obtained from the judge of the United States court for the middle district of Alabama for the letter carriers to hold their sessions in the main court room of the federal building.

It is expected that about 150 letter carriers will be in attendance at the convention which promises to be one of the best attended and most successful in the history of the organization.

Aside from the business meetings plans have been made for the entertainment of the visitors, and nothing will be left undone to show them a great time.

E. C. Gumble, the well known bicycle and motorcycle man, will give a dinner to the letter carriers at the Dothan Cafe. Manager Powell of the Palace Theatre will give a theatrical party for the visitors.

Good Cotton Crop in Henry.

The cotton crop in this section is spoken of as being very promising just at this time. A few have some cotton yet to plant, but very few. The crop has been thinned and sided up, the stands are almost perfect, and is growing off nicely considering the dry weather. The corn crop is yet small, which is no sign of a poor crop, it has been well worked, and when we do get rain it will grow in a hurry. The crop is all we could wish for if we could get a nice rain. We are needing rain to plant our potatoes, and revive the gardens, and a good rain would make the crops bump, and you would not know them in ten days.—Abbeville News.

Rooms Leased For Young Men's Club

A suite of rooms in the telephone building, North Foster street, have been leased by the Young Men's Club for the next six months, and will be repaired at once. The rooms will probably be ready for use the latter part of next week.

Some of the furniture has already arrived, and the balance is expected within a week. For the past few weeks interest has apparently lagged in the work, but this has been because of the unavoidable delay in obtaining suitable quarters. The Board of Governors and its sub-committees have been doing everything possible to have the quarters ready in the shortest time possible.

A number of unique plans are before the Board of Governors, and will no doubt come before the club for action at a future date.

Annual Convention of Alabama Non-School Association in Dothan Next Year Will Be Well Advertised by Secretary Leon C. Palmer.

The sub-committee of the State Executive Committee commissioned to fix the date of the next State Convention of the Alabama Sunday School Association, have set the date for Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, April 7, 8, and 9, 1915.

The convention is to be held in Dothan, for the first time in the history of the organization, and a campaign of systematic advertising has already begun. The committee in charge of this feature has outlined plans which will probably make this the most thoroughly advertised Convention ever held in the State. Bulletins of information regarding the progress of arrangements, local preparation, program, the speakers, and the transportation arrangements, will be sent from time to time during the next eleven months to all the daily and weekly papers and denominational press.

Three of the most important places on the program have already been filled. Dr. Jas. H. Sampson, of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky., is to give a lecture on the Bible, based on the International Sunday School lessons, each day of the Convention. Dr. Sampson is a native Alabamian, and has achieved high rank as a theologian and Bible expositor; it will be the first time that he has been on a State Convention program in Alabama.

The music of the convention will be led by Prof. K. O. Krell, of Chicago, who is generally considered the world's greatest Convention chorus leader. Prof. A. W. Hoper of Winona Lake, will accompany him.

For about twenty years past the annual conventions of the Alabama Sunday School Association, have grown in size each year, the one in Mobile last month being the largest ever held. At that convention 1,441 registered delegates were present representing every county in the state except three (Crenshaw, Fayette and Marion) together with 12 outside states. States of different denominations were represented. It is expected that the convention at Dothan next April which will be much more thoroughly advertised than the convention in Mobile, will have an even larger attendance.

WON'T BE TO HAVE HOLIDAY TOMORROW

If you are going to have any business with the postoffice tomorrow, attend to it before noon. The office will observe a half holiday, closing up at twelve. The city carriers will make one delivery in the residential district before noon, and two in the business district.

Cool Mornings Injuring Crops.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION IN THE SOUTHERN STATES.

K. L. Lally, a Harpison

A vigorous plea for compulsory school attendance laws in the Southern States is made by William H. Hand, State high school inspector for South Carolina, in a bulletin just issued by the United States Bureau of Education. After pointing out that the six states still without compulsory laws—South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Texas, and the four States with compulsory laws that apply only partially—Maryland, Virginia, Arkansas, and Louisiana—are all Southern States, Mr. Hand presents statistics showing that although illiteracy has been reduced rapidly in these states within the last two decades, they still have the highest percentage of illiteracy among the white population.

"The figures can have but one meaning," declares Mr. Hand. "They show that compulsory education reduces illiteracy."

"The opponents of compulsory education insist that the people will send their children to school without being obliged to do so, if only they are shown their duty and their obligation to their children. These opponents declare that the younger generation of white children are already in school. Neither contention is true. In 1910 the 12 Southern States had 788,699 native white children between the ages of 6 and 14 not in school.

"Who are these illiterate children, and why are they not in school? Some of them are the sons and daughters of parents themselves ignorant and unable to appreciate or to understand what an education means to their children and to the State. Some are the children of selfish fathers and mothers who are more than willing to make wage earners and bread-winners of their untalented offspring at the expense of their future manhood and womanhood. Many are at work on the farms, sacrificed to the monotonous round of planting crops, cultivating crops, harvesting crops, and again planting crops. Some are at work in stores and shops or engaged as messenger boys, all at a small wage. Many are employed in the nerve-dulling, and blood-sapping environment of the mills, receiving good wages as children in exchange for vigor of body and training of mind as men and women while thousands of others are roaming the streets and country lanes, the training ground for idlers, vagrants, and enemies to law, order and decency.

"When the State has provided schools for all its children it has performed only a portion of its duty. If a universal school tax is leviable on the ground that popular education is a necessary condition of the welfare of the State, it is also justifiable. The State has no right to levy and collect taxes for a specific purpose and then permit that purpose to be defeated at the hand of indifferently or selfish parents.

"Objection is often made that compulsory attendance would cause hardship in the homes of the poor. Is it not a fact that the poor child is the very one who most needs the aid of the state to bring him into possession of his own? If it is who must soon face the cruellest trials of modern life and the need of a demand of citizen ship with none of the advantages of birth and wealth. The poor child is the very one whom the state ought to help because he himself is helpless.

"The argument against compulsory attendance on account of the expense has been worn threadbare nearly the time has come to drop it. Some phases of it are perfect. It is a value of expedient to permit thousands of white boys and girls to grow up in ignorance. It is to put them into school the children of the negro child should be neglected? Shall the white man remain ignorant in order to encourage or to compel the negro to remain ignorant? Is it better for white and black to remain ignorant than for both to become intelligent?

"I yield to no one in the matter of pride over what has been accomplished educationally in the past 10 years. We have planned better schools, inspired the tax payer to vote taxes for schools, encouraged the people to build model school houses to lengthen their term of employ better teachers and pay them better salaries and to make their schools their pride. But what has been accomplished in the way of a substantial decrease in the illiteracy of the citizenship? Of what value are all our school taxes and elegant school houses and improved schools to the thousands of boys and girls who never enter the doors of a schoolhouse?"

HUMBER FOR THE WEEK.

We came very near reading an interesting article clipped from the Troy Herald the other day. All it liked being a good article was little explanation.

For instance, in speaking of a powerful odor prepared to sink the boat we'll out of the field the Herald says:

The originator of this remedy says that he made forty five bales of cotton last year with four plows. While his neighbors on the same kind of land made only a bale and only half to the acre.

It is here that the article fails to be interesting. What we desire to know is how many acres were planted to get the forty five bales to the four plows.

You see, only a bale and a half to the acre. Isn't that and we should advise our farmers to try the experiment till we get to where we make more than that on an acre.

But here's what the Herald says. The cheering news comes from Jackson Miss. that a Yazoo county farmer had discovered a mixture that the boll weevil can't stand and that it will cause him to leave any field in disgust.

The concoction used is thus described:

The mixture consists of a quantity of lubricating oil put into a barrel, boiled together with a quantity of tar is added into the concoction five gallons of coal oil are added and stirred together. Old socks or other clothes are saturated with the mixture and tied to the swingletrees of the plow.

The socks drag over the young cotton leaving a penetrating odor that is said to be very objectionable to the weevil and he leaves the plant and patch in disgust. The originator of this remedy says that he made forty five bales of cotton last year with four plows.

THE BYRNE SIMPLIFIED

The Byrne Simplified shorthand is the stenographic marvel of the age. It has completely revolutionized the art of rapid writing. There are now over 30,000 enthusiastic writers of this famous system. It is without question the greatest reporting system in use. It has been thoroughly tested in reporting of every kind. Reporting of the theological lectures, medical lectures, convention reporting, the court room, the platform orator and debater, the politician, from our present president of the United States on down the line.

Writers with two years' experience of other systems and mastering it in less than three months' time, readily admitted they were better stenographers after completing the Byrne Simplified in less than three months than they were after spending eight to twelve months in school, and more than a year in actual work with the other systems.

7,500 TO ACT IN PAGEANT

AND MASQUE AT ST. LOUIS

(Special to The Eagle.)

St. Louis, Mo., May 29.—Seven thousand five hundred men, women and children of this city will appear late this afternoon and evening in the pageant and masque based on the history and spirit of St. Louis which has been a year in preparation.

The giant drama will have as its place of production that natural amphitheatre at Art Hill, Forest Park. There is room for 100,000 spectators on the half circle of sloping hills, but from the multitude gathering there in increasing numbers throughout the day it will not be half large enough. The production will be given four successive days.

The stage 21,200 square feet in area is built over a part of a lagoon. A section of the lagoon lies between the stage and the audience and serves to represent the Mississippi river in the historical pantomimes. The total cost of the performance is $125,000. This is defrayed by subscription and admission is free. The promoters declare it is the largest pageant ever given.

The purpose of the pageant is partly to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the founding of St. Louis by Pierre Laclade, but more to teach the people of the city the importance of mutual helpfulness and the community spirit.

The spectacle originated in the brain of Miss Charlotte Humbold, a member of the Playground Commission. Those in charge are Joseph London Smith, an expert director of pageants, Percy Mackaye, who wrote "The Bird Masque," Frederick H. Converse, playwright, and Thomas Wood Stevens, Director of the School of Drama at Carnegie Institute.

Mr. Stevens wrote the first part of the programme, the historical pageant. It consists of three acts or movements.

In this pageant will be re-enacted the history of the city from the days of the mound builders to the time of the civil war. Indians of the mound builders period and those of 1823; the DeSoto expedition and the fur traders; the arrival of Pierre Laclade, with his 14-year-old Auguste Chateau, whom he left in charge of the settlement; Spanish and English officers and soldiers; traders of the Daniel Boone days and pioneers of the Lewis and Clark period; ladies and gentlemen of the Lafayette time; officers and men of Battery A returning from Mexico; German immigrants; types of the civil war period—these are some of the historic times and figures from which material is drawn.

In the second movement will come that most thrilling event of the city's history—the combined attack of the British and Indians in 1780 and the spirited and successful resistance by the settlers. Mrs. Rigouche, the schoolmistress appears, according to the old tradition, in the stockade, fighting heroically with the men, while the Spanish Governor De Leyba, by whose negligence the town came near being surprised, appears as a sick man, borne about by friends, unable to command the defense.

The next episode is the singing of French Revolutionary songs in the streets of the "Sans Culottes"—a distant echo in St. Louis of the mighty struggle going on in France.

The second movement ends with the transfer after the Louisiana Purchase of the day of the three flags. The Spanish Governor proclaims the rule of his government at an end, and Major Stoddard takes over the post as a representative of France. The French settlers speak for a pause in the proceedings, while they hold a fete, rejoicing in the last hour of the fleur de lis. Then comes the proclamation of the purchase and goes up the American flag.

The production is so timed that the pageant will end with nightfall. Then, after a fifteen minute interlude of music, will come the masque, written by Mr. Mackaye.

St. Louis, conceived as a youthful crusader in the cause of civilization and as a leader in the new civic government which is urging the great American cities toward a more socialized future, is the hero. His mission has been laid upon him by the spirit of Cahokia handing down to him the torch of a co-operative spirit from the far past—the period of the mound builders.

To carry out his mission he joins with the pioneers and the world (Adventures representatives of all nations who have peopled our country) as their leader in opposition to the Wild Nature Forces, the Earth Spirits, (Iron, Gold, the Forests—symbols of the materials of our American industries,) and the hordes of the War Demon.

Opposed to him will be the leadership of the War Demon, and the tournament will make clear the theme chosen by Mr. Mackaye—the fall and rise of social civilization.

THE PRESIDENT OPENS BIG UNIVERSITY

Washington, May 24—President Wilson flanked by Secretary of State Bryan and Secretary of the Navy Daniels, and surrounded by a throng of thousands, including some of the most eminent Protestant churchmen in the nation yesterday formally opened the American University.

A chorus of voices, led by Percy S. Foster, and accompanied by the Marine Band, sang "The Star Spangled Banner," as the Stars and Stripes were hoisted to the top of a tall masthead. The conclusion of this impressive ceremony was marked by a cheer from thousands who thronged the green lawn.

Addresses were delivered by the President, Secretary Bryan, Secretary Daniels, Bishop Earle Cresson, resident Methodist Bishop of Washington presiding. The invocation was offered by Bishop Harding, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Washington, and the benediction was said by Bishop Alphaeus W. Wilson, the senior bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Bishop John W. Hamilton, of Boston, who gave the first dollar toward the university was present as was Bishop William T. McDowell of Boston. Scores of other churchmen added in the formal opening of the doors of the university. It is situated on a site of 109 acres and when completed, it is estimated, will have cost $10,000,000.

Only two of the buildings of the university have been completed but it is stated that within a few years all of the twenty structures designed in the plans for the institution will be finished. The university is designed to fill that need voiced by George Washington when he said that there should be a national seat of learning at the National Capital.

Scotch Deliberation.

The Rev. James Hamilton, minister, of Liverpool, while on holiday in Scotland, had a narrow escape from drowning, says Pearson's Weekly. Accompanied by a boy, Mr. Hamilton was fishing for sea trout when he slipped on a stone, lost balance and, being incumbered with heavy wading boots, had great difficulty in keep his head above water. Finally he managed to get back to shore, although in a very exhausted state, and said to the boy:

"I noticed that you never tried to help me."

"Na," was the deliberate response, "but I was thinkin' o't."

Jotting.

Some time ago an esteemed citizen retained a lawyer to defend him in a civil suit, says the Philadelphia Telegraph. Things went wrong, however, and the esteemed citizen was obliged to put up the costs. Naturally he blamed it on the lawyer.

"I thought," he loudly remarked to the citizen to his legal representative on leaving the court room, "that when I employed a lawyer I was comparatively safe."

"You shouldn't blame me," returned the legal one. "I did the very best I could with the material in hand."

"Is that so?" sarcastically exclaimed the citizen. "Well let me tell you something. If I had a son who was an idiot I would make a lawyer of him!"

"Perhaps," was the cool rejoinder of the other. "But your father seemed to have entertained a different opinion."

THE EIGHTEENTH AMENDMENT

Most people thought, after the income tax and senatorial election amendments had been added to the Federal Constitution, that the inflexible document could be left quietly in peace for another fifty years. Few realize, therefore, that we are now rapidly approaching the Eighteenth Amendment; fewer still have any idea of the question with which it deals. The Anti-Saloon League of America is now conducting a characteristically energetic campaign to make the following clauses part of our fundamental law:

ARTICLE XVIII.

Section 1. The sale, manufacture for sale, transportation for sale, importation for sale, and exportation for sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes in the United States and all territories subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are forever prohibited.

Section 2. Congress shall have power to provide for the manufacture, sale, importation, and transportation of intoxicating liquors for sacramental, medicinal, mechanical, pharmaceutical, or scientific purposes, or for the use in the arts, and shall have power to enforce this article by all needful legislation.

What is the likelihood that this will become law? Two thirds majority in each house of Congress must pass this amendment. After that, two thirds of the legislatures must ratify it. What signs are there that the prohibition sympathizers can command any such support?

They have recently given a striking illustration of their influence in Congress. Two years ago the Keary-Webb bill passed both houses. This law prohibits the shipment of alcoholic liquors from one state or foreign country into another state where it is intended to be used in violation of the laws of that state. The purpose, of course, was to prevent the transportation of liquors into a prohibition state—an end which, according to the temperance advocates, is rapidly being achieved. President Taft vetoed the bill. The temperance people, however, had no difficulty in getting together the necessary two thirds vote to pass the bill over the President's veto. Whatever the impartial citizen may think of the merits of such a law, one thing is clear enough—the enormous influence of the prohibition preachers in both branches of Congress. If they can muster the same support for their favorite amendment, it will pass.

When it comes to possible influence upon the ratifying legislatures, the situation is even more striking. A map published in the last issue of the Year Book of the Anti-Saloon League shows that the greater part of the country in territorial extent—in figures 2,122,716 square miles of 2,973,854—is now under no-license laws. Of the 31,000,000 people in the country, 46,000,000 are living under no-license laws. In parts of certain states, a new generation is growing up that has never seen a saloon. The National Liquor Dealers' Journal, which is widely sounding the "alarm" against the temperance people, declares that there are twenty-seven state legislatures now ready to vote for the constitutional amendment making the outlawry of alcoholic drinks nationwide.

Inasmuch as the votes of only thirty-eight states are required, the prohibition people, at the present moment, need only eleven more legislatures to make the proposed change a reality. And the prohibition leaders, who are the most persistent, the most tireless, the most fanatical fighters, if you will, in the country, have hardly begun their campaign.

MARRIAGE OF MR. CHAPMAN AND MISS VAUGHAN

A marriage of pleasurable interest to many friends was that of Mr. J. Price Chapman and Miss Mary D. Vaughan which was beautifully celebrated Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the Perry street Methodist church. The church was decorated with palms, garlands of Southern cotton and a profusion of pink and white roses. Before the ceremony Miss Louise Frasier, of Tuscaloosa sang sweetly two songs by Carrie Jacobs Bond, "A Perfect Day," and "I Love You Truly." She was accompanied on the organ by Miss Elizabeth Norton of Keokuk, who also played Mendelssohn's wedding march for the entrance of the bride party. The ushers were Mr. George Frasier, Mr. Ralph Zeigler, and Mr. Henry Cooper of Millbrook, and Mr. Crawford Harris of Montgomery. To bridesmaids, Miss Mary Jones and Miss Robbie May Jones of this city, Miss Willie May Chapman of Wetumpka and Miss Louise Frasier of Tuscaloosa, came each walking alone. They wore exquisite costumes of white crepe de chine and lace, and white picture hats and carried bouquets of white sweet peas and ferns.

The maid of honor, Miss Mary Chapman of Dothan, of Mt. Meigs, wore a gown of white crepe de chine and lace and a hat of white crepe de chine and lace. She carried a bouquet of white sweet peas. The bridesmaids were Miss Louise Frasier of Tuscaloosa, Miss Mary Jones of this city, Miss Robbie May Jones of this city, Miss Willie May Chapman of Wetumpka and Miss Louise Frasier of Tuscaloosa.

brook, and little Miss Genevieve Jones of Montgomery. They wore frocks of white lace and one carried the ring in the center of a white lily, while the other carried a basket of pink rosebuds. The bride entered with her maid of honor. She was a picture of girlish beauty in her wedding gown of crepe de chine, gracefully draped and trimmed with princess lace and pearls. She wore a hat of white braid trimmed with white tips, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Mr. Chapman was attended by Mr. Herbert Chapman of Coosada as best man. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. A. Williams, pastor of the Perry Street Methodist Church, and the ring service was used.

Immediately afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Chapman left for Dothan where they will make their home. The bride is a popular girl, bright and attractive and in Montgomery, where she has grown to young womanhood she has many friends who regret that her marriage will take her to another city to make her home. The bride's going-away gown was of blue two-tone taffeta with hat to match.

Mr. Chapman is the son of Mr. John Chapman of Coosada, and has many friends throughout the state. He is a successful young business man of Dothan and has many friends who will welcome his bride most cordially.—Montgomery Advertiser.
